Pro Square Teat Liners

Significantly improves
teat
condition
and cow
comfort

It is becoming even more important that technology adapts to the cow. The cow must be comfortable, not only in the barn, but also during milking.

The development of the square teat liner represents a major step forward. It significantly improves the teat condition.

As shown in the picture below, the opening of the Pro Square teat liner is unlike round shaft liners. During the rest phase of the milking, the square design ensures two contact points reducing the pressure on the teat end.

This gives a better massage and always allows the liner to drain.
